

SPaG Boardbusters: Revision Quiz

How to Play:

- There are two teams: blue and purple.
- The purple team starts by choosing a letter. They will click on a letter and a question will appear. If they answer the question correctly, the hexagon will turn purple. If they answer incorrectly, the question is passed to the blue team. If the blue team are able to answer the question correctly, the hexagon will turn blue. If neither team are able to answer the question, the hexagon remains white. The hexagon will change colour when you click outside of the letter. Teams take it in turn to choose any hexagon and answer the question. For the hexagons to change, click on the chosen hexagon until it is the right colour. The order is purple, blue and then white.
- You can play alone. Pick a route through the board and see if you can make it all the way without getting a question wrong.

The first team to cross the board with connecting hexagons is the winner.

What P is shown in all three of these sentences?

The cat, who had recently chased away the dog, looked exceedingly proud.

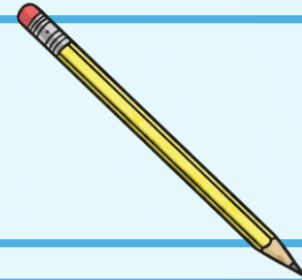

One day – hopefully sometime soon – my team might win a game.

Unfortunately, we (the party planning committee) have had to cancel next week's event.

Click here to go back to the board

What S is highlighted in these sentences?

Samuel sharpened his pencil.

Unsurprisingly, the goat had managed to escape once more.

Tomorrow, Jemima will be entering the competition.

Click here to go back to the board

What V is highlighted in these sentences?

She promised to not eat any more bananas.

My pet porcupine is excellent at running.

Tomorrow, I will bake the remaining cupcakes.

Click here to go back to the board

What F is the tone of voice that this letter is written in?

To whom it may concern,

Please allow me to bring to your attention a rather urgent matter. It appears that my prized gnome, Stanley, was taken from my garden last night. If you have any further details on his whereabouts, please do not hesitate to contact me on the details provided.

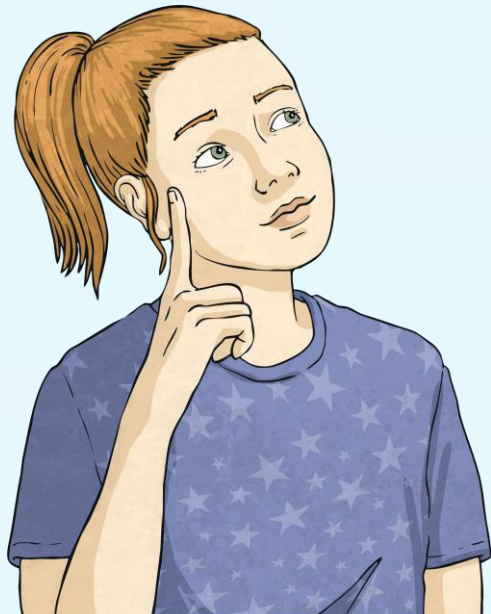

I appreciate your help in this matter.

Yours sincerely,

V Concerned

Click here to go back to the board

What A represents a word that means the opposite?

| | | |
|------|--------|--------------|
| love | —————→ | hate |
| good | —————→ | bad |
| true | —————→ | false |
| push | —————→ | pull |
| pass | —————→ | fail |

[Click here to go
back to the board](#)

What H is missing from the highlighted words?

Trying to not look as scared as she felt, Mia stared into the monster's bloodred eyes.

The badtempered mule stamped its feet in protest.

A wellknown celebrity will be visiting our school tomorrow.

Click here to go back to the board

What SC is a piece of punctuation that could be used to separate the two independent clauses in each sentence?

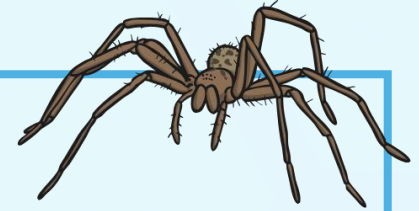

I like porridge _____ it fills me up in the morning.

Maisie is running _____ she's late for the bus again.

We don't have many cakes left _____ they were eaten very quickly.

Click here to go back to the board

What N is highlighted in these sentences?

There's a huge spider in the bath!

From now on, I am only going to eat chocolate.

Bob needed to hammer in the nail to hang the mirror.

Click here to go back to the board

What A is highlighted in these sentences?

The monarch's crown was a beautiful golden colour.

I love your pink hair!

The new car zoomed past the school.

Click here to go back to the board

What MC is highlighted in these sentences?

While you are skiing, I will be taking photos.

We will get some pocket money if we wash the car.

I love flying this kite because it's so fast and colourful!

Click here to go back to the board

What S is shown by the examples below?

shouted

yelled announced

hollered

cried

bellowed

screamed cheered

whooped

roared

[Click here to go
back to the board](#)

What C are these apostrophes being used for?

Don't steal my sausages while I'm not looking!

Let's go to the amusements first.

I can't even begin to imagine how you're already covered in mud.

Click here to go back to the board

What P is the voice of these sentences?

A window has been broken.

The eggs were delivered by Clive.

My bike was found by a friendly neighbour.

Click here to go back to the board

What I is the tone of voice this letter is written in?

Listen 'ere.

I ain't gonna give your gnome back. You didn't even look after 'im and he says that he is well happy being in my garden.

So there!

Click here to go back to the board

What D is highlighted in these sentences?

One cat managed to escape.

Can you really eat all of those cakes?

I hate the sound of the lawnmower.

Click here to go back to the board

What A is the voice of these sentences?

The escaped sheep broke my fence.

Kevin delivered some delicious eggs to us.

A squirrel is eating all of our birdseed.

[Click here to go
back to the board](#)

What P is highlighted in these sentences?

Wow! A helicopter just flew straight over my head!

When I told my dog off, he hid his head under his paws.

The biscuits are hidden in the smallest cupboard.

Click here to go back to the board

What A is highlighted in these sentences?

Carefully, the raccoon crossed the road.

To everyone's surprise, the donkey began to slowly fly up into the air.

The duck sharply quacked at the ducklings that were waddling clumsily behind her.

Click here to go back to the board

What C is a piece of punctuation that is missing from each of these sentences?

Yesterday, I ate three different types of donuts a jam one, a custard one and a plain one.

For our camping trip, I need to pack some vital equipment my tent, a sleeping bag, a gas stove and a water carrier.

The rabbits need cleaning out they're beginning to smell.

Click here to go back to the board

What A is highlighted in these sentences?

When they heard the alarm, the children lined up quietly.

I wish I had a pet anaconda.

Yes! I've got an apple in my lunchbox!

Click here to go back to the board

What PP is the tense these sentences are written in?

The cat was cleaning its paws.

This time last year, we were sunbathing on the beach.

The talented footballer was training with his new club.

Click here to go back to the board

What SC is highlighted in these sentences?

If you hurry up, we won't miss the train.

Peel the apples while I weigh out the flour.

Although he's usually badly behaved, my puppy is excellent at doing tricks.

Click here to go back to the board

What P is highlighted in these sentences?

Mum told Danny to brush his teeth but he ignored her.

The chickens from Honeysuckle Farm won their category in the country show.

Have you seen the keys anywhere?

Click here to go back to the board

What RC is highlighted in these sentences?

The baobab tree, which was stunning to look at, swayed gently in breeze.

Yesterday's competition, which was open to everyone, was a huge success.

Unsurprisingly, Sid, who had several dinners each day, was struggling to get through the cat flap.

Click here to go back to the board

What P is the type of apostrophe shown in these sentences?

Gavin's hat blew off in the strong wind.

The kittens' claws were sharp and needle-like.

Upon seeing the treats, the four dogs' tails all wagged at once.

Click here to go back to the board

