

I've received a new book in the post
today!

There is a sneak peek of the book on the next slide!

What do you think the book is?

What is it
about?

What clues
can you see?

LET'S
READ
IT!

Working in threes, you are going to explore what is the same and different about the books we have read.

VENN DIAGRAM

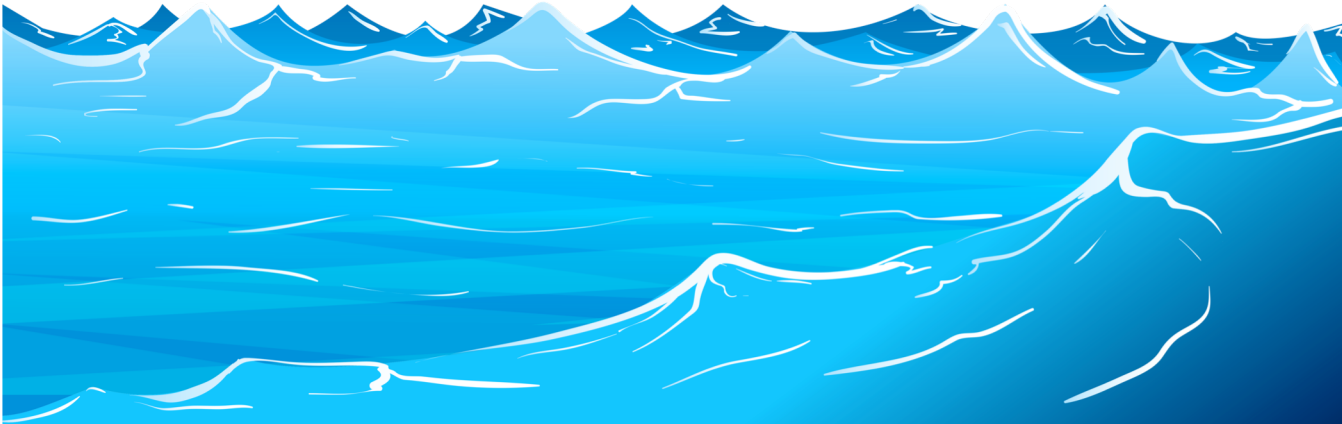

YOU WILL NEED:

Lesson 2

Obj: To be able to put the story of “The Little Narwhals”
in the correct order.

Yesterday, you were talking about a new book!

Can we make a list of characters and objects in the story?

I need your help to reorder the story!

We need to think about what happens at the beginning, the middle and the end

Lesson 3

Obj: To be able to put the story of “The Little Narwhals” in the correct order.

Yesterday, you were reordering the story of “The Little Narwhals!”

Can you remember what happens first?

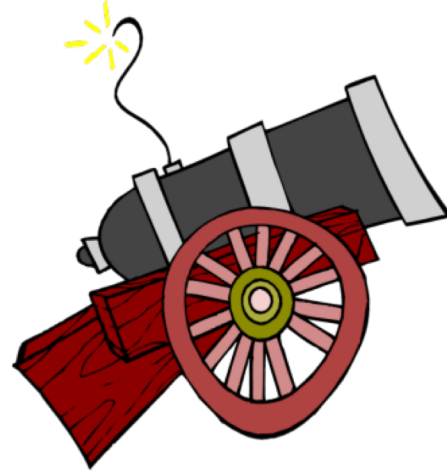

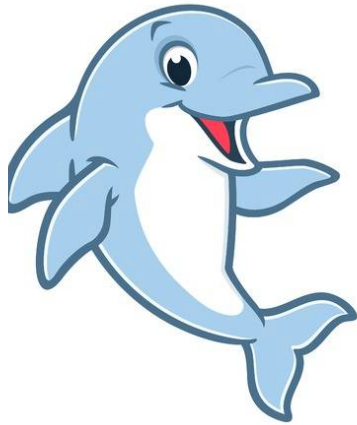

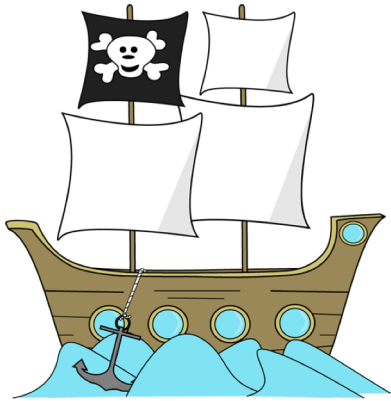

Discuss this with your learning
partners!

Lets circle what was in the story!

Can we name these things?

I need your help to reorder the story!

We need to think about what happens at the beginning, the
middle and the end

Lesson 4

Obj: Rewriting the beginning using key sentence openers from the text

Today we are going to be using.....

ADJECTIVES

Adjectives are describing words.
They tell us MORE about something.

Let's have a go at using adjectives!

Describe the sand.

soft

grainy

warm

fine

Now it's your turn!

Describe the sea.

We are going to use adjectives to write an amazing sentence opener to start our story!

Take a look at this

Once, on the cold green sea, there sailed a pirate ship belonging to some very greedy pirates. The crew was so busy counting their treasure that they didn't notice a great storm coming.

Let's think of some adjectives
to describe the pirate ship!

Once, on the cold green sea, there sailed
a pirate ship belonging to some very greedy pirates. The crew was so busy counting their treasure that they didn't notice a great
storm coming.

Now let's put the adjectives
in to our sentence opener!

Once, on the cold green sea, there sailed
a pirate ship belonging to some very
greedy pirates. The crew was so busy counting
their treasure that they didn't notice a great
storm coming.

Once, on the sea, there sailed a

pirate ship belonging to some very greedy
pirates.
